

$299,186 Bid For Work At County Airport

61 Percent Of Goal Reached By Chest Drive Workers

$48,015.15
Subscribed
In Campaign

DESPITE widespread illness which has cut down on residential contacts and completion of industry canvasses the Community Chest reach 61 percent of its $80,000 quota yesterday.

At the fourth report meeting held since the beginning of the Chest campaign, workers turned in cash and pledges which raised the total to $48,015.15.

Clifford Cramer, campaign chairman, said that he was grateful for the amounts turned in but that "we must not forget that hundreds of people still are to be contacted."

"We want to wrap the drive up just as quickly as we can," he told division leaders. "But we don't want to sacrifice thoroughness just for the sake of getting the campaign over."

"We want everyone to be contacted in all areas of the county, in industry, in business, in professions and at home. Everyone who wants to give to support the Chest's agencies and the priceless work they do all year round must be given a chance to make a contribution," he said.

"Community Chest agencies are doing jobs for all families in our area. They are jobs which must be done. It stands to reason, therefore, that the volunteer workers who are collecting donations should be welcomed to the homes, businesses and factories they visit," Cramer said.

Sometimes Thankless Job
"Collecting money for the Community Chest or any other voluntary organization is sometimes a thankless task. Many people fail to understand that Chest workers are doing what they know must be done, that they are doing their jobs gladly, are serving without pay and are devoting their time, energies and talents to every family in the community because of what they are doing for the Chest," he said.

The Trade Division continued to lead the field in terms of the percentage of the quota collected. Leaders in this division are Charles Marsh and James Somers, Stroudsburg and Martin Ellsweig and H. L. Cleveland, East Stroudsburg.

Yesterday's report session showed the Trade Division at $10,754.57 or 83 percent of its total quota of $12,941. Trades led the field at the last two report sessions.

Coming up fast, however, was the Industrial Division with $17,689.44 or 76 percent of its $23,164 quota collected or pledged. Other divisions and their totals:

Division Report
Resorts—$3,416.22 or 45 percent of a $7,612 quota; Professional—$6,584.73 or 68 percent of a $9,641 quota; Public Service—$2,036 or 42 percent of a $4,822 quota; Clubs and Organizations—$425 or 23 percent of a $1,800 quota; Stroudsburg—$771.90 or 39 percent of a $1,943 quota; East Stroudsburg—$366.30 or 45 percent of a $810 quota; County—$1,971.39 or 37 percent of a $5,267 quota; Barrett—$4,000 or 33 percent of a $12,000 quota.

Next regular report meeting will be held on Monday, Nov. 4. Yesterday's meeting was held in the TV room at the Penn-Stroud Hotel.

Mollet Nixed By Assembly

PARIS, Tuesday, Oct. 29 (AP)—The National Assembly early today turned down Socialist Guy Mollet's bid to head a new French government.

The official count showed the former Premier was rejected by a vote of 290-227.

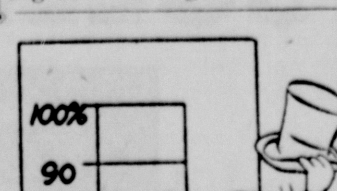

Assembly members turned a deaf ear to Mollet's plea that the nation urgently needs a government to face its mounting problems. He was the fourth to try forming a cabinet since the government of Premier Maurice Bourgès-Maunoury fell four weeks ago.

Zhukov Heads For Oblivion

LONDON, Tuesday, Oct. 29 (AP)—Marshal Georgi K. Zhukov, Russia's hero of Berlin, seemed headed today for political oblivion. Reports reaching here from Moscow indicated he has been fired from the ruling Presidium of the Soviet Communist party and is facing official disgrace.

Drive Moves Ahead

These reports were bolstered by a dispatch from Moscow to London's Communist Daily Worker, detailing the sins with which Zhukov seems to be charged.

The basic charge against Zhukov, fired Saturday as Soviet defense minister and head of all the armed forces, is that he hindered the work of the Communist party's organization among the military, the Worker's dispatch said.

Moscow remained silent, as it had for two full days, on the reasons for Zhukov's abrupt dismissal, which coincided with his return from an official trip to Yugoslavia and Albania. But diplomatic circles in the Soviet capital buzzed with anticipation. Something dramatic seemed in the air.

191 Illegal Speed Zones Uncovered

HARRISBURG, Oct. 28 (AP)—A state survey today showed that there are 191 illegal speed restriction zones in 46 of the Commonwealth's 67 counties.

In addition, speed zones have been illegally extended in 69 instances.

"In most cases the illegal restrictions were found to be warranted, but not necessarily for the speed designated," the department said. "Most common are 25 mile-an-hour zones where our standards would call for 35 mile-an-hour zones."

The speed zone survey was started in July at the request of Gov. Leader. The governor noted at the time that many restricted speed zones are not realistic and are now almost completely ignored.

The 1967 Legislature authorized the department to establish 40 mile-an-hour zones.

Coppola Held Under Bail

NEW YORK, Oct. 28 (AP)—Albert Anastasia's bodyguard, Anthony Coppola, was held in $50,000 bail today as a material witness in the gangster's assassination. The district attorney's office said Coppola's life is in danger, too.

Asst. Dist. Atty. Alexander Herman told General Sessions Judge Abraham N. Geller, who ordered Coppola held:

"If this man walks out, it may very well be the beginning of open warfare by the hoodlums in this city."

Coppola was strangely absent last Friday morning when two masked gunmen waylaid Anastasia and shot him to death as he relaxed in a barber chair in the Hotel Park Sheraton.

His debts total $900,000.

PITTSBURGH, Oct. 28 (AP)—Lawyers trying to untangle a maze of stock market transactions revealed today that a studios investor—who paid high interest to friends who loaned him money to buy stocks—may be in debt nearly $900,000.

Ralph B. Hatz said he persuaded friends and neighbors to lend him more than a million dollars in the past 20 years.

In return, the investors received signed notes and a promise of monthly interest. Hatz said the interest rates ranged from 1 1/2 to 5 percent monthly.

Several of Hatz's creditors took action last week in Allegheny County Common Pleas Court to have him declared insolvent. This was done and Samuel H. Rosenzweig was appointed receiver to untangle the financial transactions.

H. H. Leventon, attorney for Rosenzweig, told the court today that an audit shows Hatz's actual deficit is $888,158. He said Hatz had assets of $142,210 but owed $1,030,369 to creditors. There is a chance, Leventon declared, that some additional assets will be uncovered and the amount owed to creditors may be reduced.

Before the audit was presented in court, Atty. Harry Kalson said he believed that Hatz had paid back "something like $700,000 but still owes about $300,000."

Kalson said Hatz got into difficulty about a year ago because of a stock market decline. Hatz, however, told newsmen: "It was not the stock market decline—it was just that three people didn't have faith in me anymore."

Hatz did not identify the three persons, but said they wanted their money back immediately. "I couldn't do it," Hatz said. "It was like a run on a bank."

Kalson said stocks that Hatz

Last Section Of Turnpike Opens Nov. 7

HARRISBURG, Oct. 28 (AP)—A ribbon will be cut Nov. 7 opening the final section of the Northeast Extension of the Pennsylvania Turnpike.

A ceremony at Chinchilla, just north of Scranton, will open what is regarded as the last piece of automobile turnpike in the state that originated such toll roads.

The final section of the northeastern spur runs 15 1/2 miles from the Wyoming Valley Interchange near Pittston to the Scranton Interchange at Chinchilla. It brings to 110 miles the extension beginning just outside Philadelphia at the main east-west turnpike opened Oct. 1, 1940.

Pocono-Philly Link
The northeast Pike makes travel from metropolitan Philadelphia to the Pocono Mountain resort area considerably easier. It also links the anthracite region and the Lehigh Valley with Philadelphia and comes close to the Penn-Canada Highway being built in New York.

Turnpike Commission Chairman Joseph J. Lawler said today the opening "may well mean the end of turnpike construction in our state."

He pointed out that such ventures are made "not only impracticable but unnecessary" by the federal interstate highway program, under which the state pays only 10 per cent of costs.

Lawler said the Scranton Chamber of Commerce told him today that Nov. 7 had been set for the ribbon-cutting ceremonies.

Notables Invited
The chamber said it hopes to have present at the ceremonies Gov. Leader and Gov. Harriman, of New York, and Federal Highway Administrator Bertram D. Tallamy.

The 15 1/2-mile section will give the Pennsylvania Turnpike system a total of 469 miles open to traffic. The New York Thruway will be slightly longer when its final sections are completed and thus become the world's longest toll road.

Soviets Seek Switch In Arms Talks
UNITED NATIONS, N.Y., Oct. 28 (AP)—The Soviet Union proposed today that disarmament talks be switched from big power secret meetings to a public 82-nation "Little Assembly."

In a surprise move, the Soviet Union urged the abolishment of the U.N.'s 12-nation disarmament committee, which has been carrying on private talks since 1954.

The United States rejected the Russian proposal as impractical. A U.S. spokesman said, "It appears to indicate an unwillingness to negotiate. It casts doubt on their intentions with regard to any disarmament agreement."

Prefer Secret Debate
The Western powers believe that secret meetings keep debate from turning into a propaganda battle.

The Soviet proposal calls for the establishment of a permanent disarmament commission composed of all U.N. member nations. The commission would examine "all proposals on disarmament submitted to the United Nations" and would make recommendations to the General Assembly.

It was not brought out who had suggested damaging Donoghue's car.

Como's Brother Lands In Court
HOUSTON, Tex., Oct. 28 (AP)—Dominic Como, brother of singer Perry Como, had his troubles in Justice W. C. Ragan's court today. And his wife, Mary Lou Como, had her troubles in Judge W. A. Miller's County Court-at-Law.

Como, operator of Como's Club and Resort, a private club in Houston, was told by Judge Ragan to vacate the premises for non-payment of rent.

At the same time his expectant wife was in Judge Miller's court to answer a worthless check charge. Because of her condition the case was reset until Jan. 6.

Hatz lost their organizational fight. The drive took place in 1953 and is now being investigated by a Senate committee assigned to look into allegedly improper labor-management relations.

It was not brought out who had suggested damaging Donoghue's car.

Competition
This year's meeting is being held against the background of intensified competition among the Army, Navy and Air Force in the missile effort. That competition has reached the point where the House Appropriations Committee is moving in to find out what effect inter-service rivalry may be having on the nation's missile and satellite programs.

An attempt by the Defense Department to soft-pedal the rivalry appeared to be behind some of the developments at the first day of the convention. These developments included:

1. The substitution of an originally prepared speech by Lt. Gen. Stanley R. Mickelsen, head of the Army's Air Defense Command, which said "interceptor aircraft are obsolete," that the Army's current model of the Nike anti-aircraft missile "can reach and kill any bomber that flies today" and that "the Army points the way for America to shed herself of any stigma of the Douhet theory of mass destruction of civilian populations."

2. Gen. Willard G. Wyman, chief of the Continental Army Command, said in his prepared speech "I consider it dangerous to fetter our development now with arbitrary range limitations and rigid definitions of the future battle area which an enemy may choose to ignore."

He was talking about the need for long range support of the ground forces with guided missile batteries capable of using either atomic or conventional ammunition.

3. The top-ranking Army officer, Gen. Maxwell D. Taylor, Chief of Staff, told the association the Army already is started on a project which may be the means of coping with the ICBM.

Taylor said he is convinced a counter-weapon system against the ICBM can be provided "for a price which is within reach."

Retaliation Pledged By NATO Chief
WASHINGTON, Oct. 28 (AP)—The supreme commander of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization said today it would "respond forcefully and effectively" to aggression against any member.

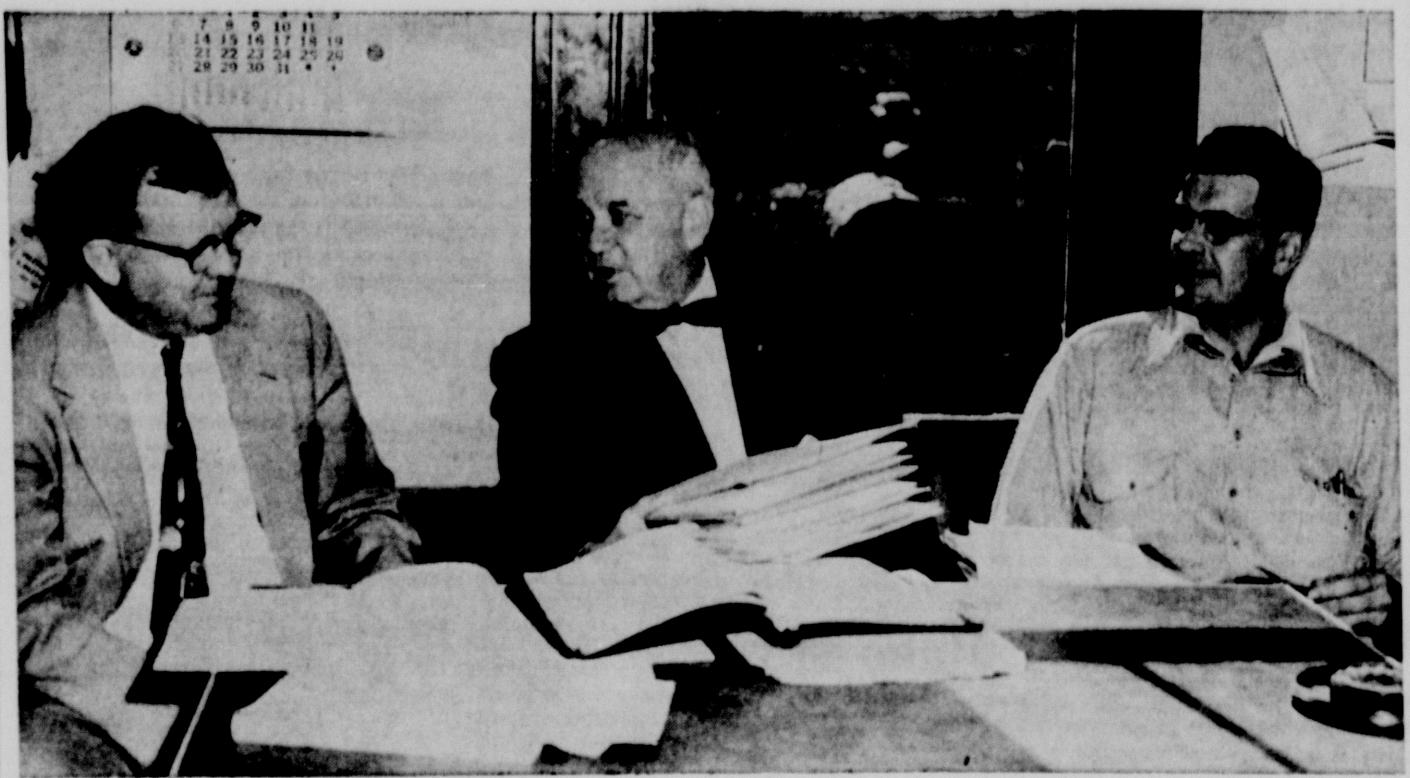

This statement, by Gen. Lauris Norstad, was in reply to newsmen's questions as to how NATO would react to Soviet aggression against Turkey.

Norstad, a U. S. Air Force general who is NATO headquarters in Paris, conferred with President Eisenhower during a one-day visit to Washington.

In saying NATO would respond with force to aggression against any member, Norstad noted that the NATO treaty sets forth that an attack against one member is an attack against all.

NATO members are Denmark, the United Kingdom, the United States, Norway, Luxembourg, West Germany, France, Portugal, Greece, Italy, Turkey, the Netherlands, Belgium, Canada and Iceland.

Norstad avoided a direct reply as to whether he and Eisenhower discussed the possibility of the President attending the NATO council meeting in Paris in December.

Reds Trying To Dominate Arab World

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y., Oct. 28 (AP)—Britain accused the Soviet Union today of trying to dominate the Arab world "by every mischievous and dangerous means short of war."

It urged the U.N. to remain calm in the face of "this whole Soviet hullabaloo."

Britain, Turkey and other Baghdad Pact members replied in the 82-nation U.N. General Assembly to Soviet-Syrian charges that Turkey is about to launch war in the Middle East.

Amid the third round of bitter Middle East debate, Communist Yugoslavia's Joza Brlejić called upon the big powers to stop exchanging threats over the Middle East crisis.

"A chain reaction appears to have been generated which may well carry us further than the worst protagonist may wish," he declared.

Turkey Holds Firm
Turkey proclaimed its determination to remain in the Baghdad and NATO alliances, and described as "fantastic" accusations by Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko that the United States is encouraging Turkey to attack Syria.

Gromyko, originally scheduled to speak this afternoon, postponed his speech until tomorrow.

Strong Competition
This year's meeting is being held against the background of intensified competition among the Army, Navy and Air Force in the missile effort. That competition has reached the point where the House Appropriations Committee is moving in to find out what effect inter-service rivalry may be having on the nation's missile and satellite programs.

McElroy Restores Cuts For Military Research
WASHINGTON, Oct. 28 (AP)—The new secretary of defense tonight told the armed services to make no reduction in the proposed spending of $1.7 billion on basic research.

The action by Secretary Neil McElroy was taken against a background of criticism of an Aug. 17 economy order by former Secretary Charles E. Wilson.

The criticism, much of it from Democrats in Congress and scientists and organizations active in basic research, grew sharp following the Russian success with the Sputnik earth satellite.

McElroy ordered the Army, Navy and Air Force to restore their basic research levels "within the over-all resources currently available."

Congress voted the $1.7 billion for basic research spending in the fiscal year which began last July 1.

Radar-Eye Missile
Wilson's Aug. 17 order directed the services to cut their spending by an amount equal to 10 per cent of the money for basic research.

Pentagon spokesmen said Wilson intended that the savings come not out of the $1.7 billion but out of $3.6 billion set aside for procurement and production in the research and development field.

The order was interpreted variously by the services but in the end the effect was a cut in the basic research fund.

Earlier today, two more important missile developments were disclosed:

1. The Army said its new Hawk missile, designed to shoot down low-flying planes, has a radar eye which ignores things that stand still, but speeds the missile toward a target moving in the air.

2. The Matador guided missile, hitherto an one-shot weapon, was disclosed to have been modified so that it can be recovered by parachute and refired in training and test workouts. This is an Air Force missile.

Meanwhile, two Army generals at a meeting in Washington took some swipes at Air Force doctrine and what they called the Defense Department's arbitrary rules curbing the Army's work on guided missiles.

Conference Today
All of these developments took place on the eve of another White House discussion of scientific matters in the wake of the Russian launching of Sputnik, the first man-made earth satellite.

The White House said the President would confer at 9:30 a.m. tomorrow with Dr. Isadore I. Rabi, Columbia University professor and chairman of the scientific advisory committee of the Office of Defense Mobilization; Gordon Gray, ODM director; and Robert Cutler, presidential adviser on National Security Council affairs.

The Hawk-Matador disclosures were in line with the new policy the military settled on last week, to ease some of its high secrecy in the missile and satellite fields.

Temperatures Below Normal
Eastern Pennsylvania, Eastern New York and Mid-Atlantic States—Temperature probably will average 5 degrees below normal. Some normal high and low temperatures include Albany, N.Y., 55-35; Harrisburg 59-41; and Richmond, Va., 65-44. Generally fair weather with little or no precipitation in south.

Develop Tube For Feeding Pilots Sealed In Suits
By FRANK CAREY
AP Science Reporter
WASHINGTON, Oct. 28 (AP)—Prospects look good for developing means by which jet pilots sealed inside pressure suits can eat foods squeezed from a tube like toothpaste.

A sort of ham and cheese on rye sandwich is one of the things on the menu.

This was reported today by an Air Force food researcher who also said promising experiments are going on designed to provide these other items through a tube passing through or fastened to an aperture on the pilot's head-enclosing helmet.

Liquid Meats
1. Chicken, turkey and beef in solid stock form — dispensed through the face mask and into the pilot's mouth by a manual device operating like a woman's lipstick dispenser. That is, twist the end of the device and the sticks move along the tube.

2. Liquid meats—developed to the consistency of "a good thick chocolate malted"—and dispensed by gravity through a tube from a can above the pilot's head.

Lt. Col. William D. Nettles told briefly about the new experiments at the 6th annual convention of the Assn. of Military Surgeons of the United States. He amplified in an interview.

Nettles said squeezable semi-solid foods, like the prospective ham and cheese on rye, are designed along with the solid sticks and liquid meats, to provide a new variety of foods to fliers of high performance aircraft.

At present, the diet of pilots flying at altitudes where a full pressure suit is required, is limited to milk products and fruit and vegetable juices — all dispensed from cans through a tube by gravity.

He told a reporter that liquid beef, ham, chicken and corned beef already are under experimental trial at one base. And an experimental lipstick-type dispenser has been developed for the stick foods.

Miller Firm Of Lancaster Low Bidder

AN unofficial low bid of $299,186.07 was received yesterday by Mount Pocono Airport Authority for work required by its first-phase contract.

Included in the contract as work to be done:

Preparation of the site for the proposed, enlarged airfield. This would include all grading, drainage, paving and turfing.

Paving of a 4,000 by 100 foot runway. Construction of a taxiway and aprons for the runway.

Construction of an access road to the airfield from the highway. Construction of a parking lot.

The probable low bid was submitted by H. R. Miller Co., Inc., Lancaster. It was one of 10 bids received by the authority on its first-phase project.

The authority awarded no contract yesterday. Bids were turned over to Michael Baker Jr., Rochester, the authority's consulting engineering firm.

180 Days to Decide
Under law the authority has up to 180 days in which to make its decision and award a contract or reject bids. It is not required to accept any of the bids submitted.

Michael Baker Jr. will study the bids. When a complete analysis of these has been made the engineering firm will submit its recommendation to the local airport group.

Other bidders and their estimates were the following:

Irving M. Loomis and Sons, Montrose, $301,483.01; George R. Frank, Sellersville, $314,236.67; Maitland Bros., Littlestown, $341,984.04; Middle Creek Construction Co., Middleburg, $393,342.32.

Also Henkel and McCoy, Philadelphia, $398,133.85; Ezra Slippy Construction Co., Scranton, $410,289.49; J. H. Beers, Inc., Bangor, $440,180.03; John H. Swanger Inc., Lancaster, $441,799.91; Pocono Mountain Construction Co., East Stroudsburg, $454,742.43.

Bids were received up to 1:30 p.m. at the airport authority office when they were opened and announced. Several representatives of bidding firms were present at the meeting.

Attend Conference
Officials attending were: R. LeRoy Dengler, chairman; Clifford Gilliam, Barrett Township; Charles James, Pocono Township; Irvin Foster, Colbaugh; Robert Miller, Tobyhanna Township; all authority members; George Robinson, authority solicitor.

Other officials affiliated with the authority or aiding it who were at the meeting: David Johnson, Michael Baker Jr., airport engineer and local authority consultant engineer for the project; Joseph W. Mott Jr., Civil Aeronautics Administration and Thomas Stark, Pennsylvania Aeronautics Commission.

Temperatures Below Normal

Protestant Principles Affirmed

APPROXIMATELY 600 persons Sunday night attended a Reformation rally service in East Stroudsburg Methodist Church, sponsored by the Monroe County Ministerial Assn.

Dr. F. Lewis Walley, pastor of Allentown Methodist Church, delivered the sermon in which he affirmed the principles underlying the Protestant movement.

Speaking on the "glorious tradition" of the movement, Dr. Walley linked the present Protestant position and said the term Protestant is not a negative epithet but rather a "tremendous affirmation" of Biblical truths.

He said its two principles today are the authority of the Holy Scriptures, required for salvation, and justification by faith.

Affirmation Of Truths

He pointed out the need for a positive proclamation listing the foundations of the Protestant position and said the term Protestant is not a negative epithet but rather a "tremendous affirmation" of Biblical truths.

Other clergymen who participated in the service, all members of the sponsoring organization, were:

Rev. Harold C. Eaton, pastor of the host church; Rev. Frank Blatt, Rev. Charles W. Elchman, Rev. John A. Gangaware, Rev. B. H. Hostetter, Rev. Karl Keller, Rev. C. Walter Long, Rev. Edgar Moore, Rev. James Mort.

Rev. David W. Powell, Rev. Norman R. Savage, Rev. Charles E. Staples, Rev. Roger C. Stinson, Rev. Frank W. Wingerter and Rev. Charles Fawcett.

100 Voice Choir

Music was provided by a choir of 100 voices, drawn from the churches whose ministers participated in the service. It was directed by Wallace Hornbrook, minister of music for the host church.

The group sang Hornbrook's arrangement of "A Mighty Fortress Is Our God" and the "Hallelujah Chorus" from Handel's Messiah.

Soloist was Mrs. Karen Kemple Roth, who sang Shelley's "The King of Love My Shepherd Is."

Mrs. Elizabeth Shupp

MRS. F. W. DEIBERT, Miss Emma Meltzer and Miss Elizabeth Shupp attended the annual Fall Workshop meeting of the Mountain Regional Women's Guild held Tuesday at Zion United Church of Christ Stroudsburg.

Miss Marjane Everett and Miss Grace Gregory, of Salem United Church of Christ Sunday School attended the County Sunday School Assn. convention held Wednesday and Thursday nights at the Grace Lutheran Church, East Stroudsburg.

Major and Mrs. Raymond Diehl and son Raymond, Albany, N. Y. spent the weekend with Mrs. Diehl's father, Howard Gregory.

Mr. and Mrs. Burton Altomose, Stroudsburg, visited Mrs. Nettie Everett, Saturday.

Mrs. John Chamberlain, Delaware Water Gap; Mrs. Lillian Bailey, Falls, Pa., and Miss Elizabeth Shupp were the guests of Mrs. Walter Shimer, Allentown.

Mrs. Charles Snyder served as supply organist, Sunday, at Salem United Church of Christ. Miss Pauline Christman, Trachsville, the organist will be married Nov. 2 to LeRoy Hinkle at Jerusalem Church, Trachsville.

A Reformation service will be held Sunday night at the Methodist Church, East Stroudsburg. Local folks are invited to attend.

Rev. Robert Booth attended the Fall meeting of the East Penna. Synod, United Church of Christ (E. and U.) at Memorial Church, Easton.

WORSHIP TOGETHER THIS WEEK

THIS IS THE PICTURE Americans will be seeing all over the country throughout November and the following months as part of the ninth annual Religion In American Life campaign. Advertisements in newspapers, magazines, outdoor and bus posters and on radio and television will feature the theme which urges all Americans to attend regularly the church or synagogue of their choice. The nonsectarian RIAL program is sponsored by a committee of lay men and women of three faiths. National advertising worth $7½ million is contributed by American business through the Advertising Council. Local community and congregation attendance-building drives will be held in November to tie in with the national advertising and publicity promotion for the benefit of all faiths and all religious institutions.

Viewing Screens

CH 4 HAS SET Nov. 23 at 4:30 p.m. as the starting date for its Educational Television Project. "Survival, The Story of Man, Resources and Civilization," will kick off the series. . . David Nelson, son of Ozie and Harriet, has passed his 21st birthday, which entitles the young TV and movie star to full custody of the quarter million dollars he earned during his nine years as co-star with his parents and brother in their television series.

The main reason Studio One is moving the live drama series to Hollywood next January is that they want to use multiple star casts and can't find enough material available in New York now. . . Miss Joan, the teacher on the new "Romper Room" series for pre-school children which debuted on ch. 5 yesterday, will make personal appearances on future dates to J. J. Newberry stores, including the one in Stroudsburg.

Eddie Fishers' guests at 8 tonight on ch. 3 and 4 will be movie star Betty Grable and the Mary Kaye Trio, along with regular George Gobel. . . The Bilko genius for raising money from unsuspecting suckers takes a beating when he can find no "angels" for a play he wishes to produce on the Phil Silvers show, "You'll Never Get Rich" at 8 p.m. on ch. 2 and 10.

"Korea, Act One", the story of the United States' entrance into the Korean conflict, is the authentic episode to be presented on ch. 5's "Uncommon Valor" at 8 p.m. . . Wyatt Earp is faced with the prospect of arresting one of Dodge City's leading citizens as a murder suspect at 8:30 p.m. on ch. 6 and 7.

Bob Collins' sister, Margaret, plots with Bob's doctor to make Bob think he has a serious disease, thereby forcing him to cut down on his playboy activities on "The Bob Cummings Show" at 9:30 p.m. on ch. 3 and 4. . . On ch. 2 and 10 at 9:30 p.m. Cookie, U. S. Navy sailor, and his shipmate Gabby hastily sign for special duty in order to gain liberty in San Francisco and then, too late to back out, discover they have volunteered for the first manned earth satellite on "The Red Skelton Show".

"The Other Van Gogh," a strange but true story of the Dutch post-impressionist painter Vincent, his brother Theo and the latter's wife, Johanna, is the "Telephone Time" offering at 9:30 p.m. on ch. 6 and 7. . . Before the Cadet-Middle grid classic, Army's star half-back is restricted for alleged breach of Academy rules to the dismay of the Cadet Corps in "Army-Navy Game" on "West Point" at 10 p.m. on ch. 6 and 7. Felix (Doc) Blanchard, Army's three-year All-American a decade ago, plays himself as backfield coach in tonight's story.

Educators At Area Conference

REPRESENTING local education at the annual convention of the Pennsylvania State Education Association Northeast District in Wilkes-Barre last week were Fred H. Shaffer and Mrs. Anna Meixell of Stroud Union Schools faculty.

The convention was held in conjunction with the Luzerne County Teachers Institute. More than 2,500 teachers from this area attended.

Among the reports were those by Catherine O'Malley on the association convention in Philadelphia in early July and Margaret Morris on the Bedford Springs conference Oct. 18-19.

New President Max Cooley of Sayre was named president of the State Executive Council replacing T. Stewart Williams. Sen. Paul Wagner was the main guest speaker.

Among resolutions affecting teacher - community relationship passed by the group: Recommendation that teachers with 25-year tenure be given the maximum salary in the district and recommendation that classroom pupil loads be reduced to 25 children per teacher.

Water Authority Invests $28,000 In U. S. Government Bonds

Extension Of Sewers Considered

THE Stroudsburg Water Authority last night authorized investment of $28,000 in government bonds during a meeting in the municipal building.

The funds — $20,000 in the debt service reserve fund and $8,000 in the maintenance reserve fund — are being held by Provident Tradesman Bank and Trust Co., Philadelphia, trustees for the authority's bond issue. The bank suggested the investment.

The authority also approved final payment of $7,972.50 to DePew and Diehl, Weissport, for the W. Main St. sewer project, less costs.

Buy New Chlorinator

Also authorized was transfer of $800 from the sewer fund for a new chlorinator at the sewage plant.

Borough Manager Harold E. Snyder was directed to consult with Albright and Friel, the authority's consulting engineers, regarding extension of sanitary sewers to the Grove St. area as requested by residents there.

The authority pointed out that it does not know at this time if it is authorized to construct such sewers, and also asked for a cost estimate.

It was agreed that builders be asked to quote prices for construction of a new chimney at the caretaker's building at Flagler Run Reservoir.

Car Strikes Loader Boom

BLAKESLEE — A 69-year-old New York City resident escaped injury but was treated for shock as the result of a collision between a car and a power loader on Route 940, one mile east of Blakeslee Corners, at 3 p. m. yesterday.

State Police said a car driven by Leo Spielberger, 156 W. 86th St., New York City, was traveling west on the highway when it collided with the boom of a power loader working on the berm at the right hand side of the road.

Operator of the power loader was identified as James A. Smith, Minisink Hills. Total damage was estimated by Trooper E. E. Smith of the Fern Ridge barracks at $550.

13 Candidates For Office Appear On PTA Program

SMITHFIELD TOWNSHIP PTA last night introduced a "new" concept in community political and civic life.

In a "Know Your Candidates" night at the township school a special PTA committee introduced candidates for each of 13 local and county offices. All the offices are to be filled in the Nov. 5 election.

The PTA, in its advance notice of the meeting, emphasized that it was to be a "non-partisan" affair. None of the 250 people who attended would probably deny that it was exactly that.

But the PTA pointed out with equal emphasis that the meeting was unashamedly and intentionally "political." Their idea was that politics and the election of officials as representatives of the voters needs discussion and debate and "getting acquainted."

Politics In Its Place

The meeting was an effort to put politics on the same level with economics, geography, field trips in science or anything else having to do with the education of people.

One PTA member said: "What's the matter with discussing politics. Politics and elections happen to affect the lives of every citizen of our township. Anything that affects human life should be discussed or studied. And if a meeting like this can help people to get acquainted with the people they're voting for or choosing between, then it has to be good."

In his opening remarks, Smithfield PTA president Russell Scott noted that "some people have criticized the PTA because they said it must turn out to be a political rally." Scott said that this was not the purpose and he didn't feel it would happen.

He was right. The meeting in the school auditorium was a procession of candidates as men (and one woman) who were talking about themselves and the jobs they hoped to hold. There was no "party" talk. And there was no bombast.

Privilege of Voting

If one man set the keynote for the whole evening it was probably Daniel Warner, Monroe County's next coroner. Warner is unopposed for the office, and is the candidate of both parties. His talk was brief and it mentioned nothing but the way in which voters throw away their privilege by failing to go to the polls.

"If some man walked up to you and offered to buy your vote or pay you for not voting, you'd throw him out. But every time you don't show up at the voting booth that's exactly what you're doing," Warner said. "You may not be selling your privileges, but you're throwing it away."

Candidates repeated the "don't forget to vote" theme time after time during the program. There seemed to be no party rivalry on that one point whatever.

Each candidate was allowed five minutes to state his personal qualifications and attitude toward the office he sought. None of the candidates was identified by political party. Before each office was discussed a member of the PTA committee briefly outlined the duties and salary (if any) of the job. Committee members were Hal Hamlen, the moderator; Frank Dreisbach, Omar Michaels, Albert Baxter and George Levin.

Aspirants For Judge

Among the candidates introduced and heard from: Harry T. Hamblin, candidate for jury commissioner who also brought a message from Clair Learn, a second candidate (with two to be elected); J. Guyton Kemper, candidate for county surveyor whose opponent Edward Hess was not present; Donald

Smokescreen Under Fire By Mervine

CRESCO — Russell Mervine last night attacked the sitting judge principle as a "Republican smokescreen."

Mervine is the Democratic candidate for Judge in the 43rd Judicial District which is made up of Monroe and Pike Counties. He spoke at a Democratic Women's Club meeting in Barrett township.

He told his audience that he had been unable to find any precedent in the Pennsylvania Constitution or in any statutes or court decisions for the theory that "sitting judges" should be automatically returned to office.

"We must be very careful of adopting such a principle of automatic reelection," he said, "for if we do so a man who is once elected may well serve for life, whether he is competent or incompetent, whether he is progressive or retrogressive, whether his courts are operated with horse and buggy procedures or with jet plane and streamlined car procedures."

Right To Change

"If the voters could not exercise their right to make a change at election time, how would they be able to obtain needed improvements in the courts?"

Mervine then went on to point out that "neither the Pennsylvania Bar Association nor the Monroe County Bar Association" have adopted approval of the sitting judge theory. He then noted that approval of the theory by the Republican party seemed to hold true for Monroe County alone in this area since Democratic sitting judges in Northampton are running again and are being strongly opposed by Republican candidates.

The theory, he said, "amounts to a Republican smokescreen—a gimmick to cover up the fact that our courts have fallen behind the times with no excuse for it."

Township candidates were introduced at the meeting at which party candidates for other county offices also spoke.

Most Pupils Return To Classrooms

STUDENTS returned to most Monroe County schools in larger numbers yesterday.

In Pocono Mountain Joint Schools, however, illness was just beginning to make itself felt strongly. C. Willis Dunlap, joint supervising principal told The Daily Record that absences in the jointure's seven schools totaled "just under 25 percent of the enrollment."

Even within the Pocono Mountain Jointure, however, absences were showing a decrease in specific schools. Barrett, Pocono and Jackson schools—originally the heaviest hit within the combined school system—showed far fewer absences than the preceding week's daily average.

Total absences for the jointure: 410 students yesterday, Dunlap said. In Tobyhanna Township School at Pocono Pines more than 50 percent of the student body was absent yesterday.

The news was far more pleasant elsewhere in the county, however. Pleasant Valley Joint Schools, in the West End, went back in session after having been closed for two weeks.

Only 53 Absentees

John C. Mills, supervising principal of Pleasant Valley's three schools said that only 53 pupils out of the total enrollment were absent yesterday.

There were 23 out at Chestnut Hill, 23 out at Polk and seven absent at Eldred, he said.

Mills said the apparent recovery and return to classes was "wonderful." He said facilities in all three schools were also in fine shape and it appeared that the battle against absences was ended for the moment, at least.

Hamilton Township School near Sciota was also showing remarkable recovery from the threat of illness and absences. Edward Doney, school principal, said only 38 students were absent yesterday and that his faculty and custodial force were unaffected.

Twin Borough Schools

There were encouraging reports, too, from urban schools. Earl F. Groner, Stroud Union superintendent, said that there were "only 135 elementary pupils out" and this was "almost down to normal." High school absences totaled only 63 students, Groner said.

At East Stroudsburg Area Jointure the total number of pupils out for the day had sunk to 217 for schools covering six widespread districts. The office of Carl T. Secor, supervising principal, said the decrease was marked and very encouraging.

Train, Bus Schedules Change In Time Shift

SEVERAL changes in bus and train schedules as the result of the switch from Daylight Saving to Eastern Standard Time were announced yesterday.

Eight Delaware and Lackawanna Railroad schedules were changed, a spokesman for the line said.

Train 11, which formerly left here at 5:43 p.m. for Scranton, now leaves at 5:56 p.m.; Train 7 to Buffalo and Chicago, now leaves at 9:58 p.m. instead of 10:03; Train 8 to New York, formerly leaving at 5:13 a.m. now departs at 5:23; Train 10, formerly leaving for New York at 3:25 a.m., now leaves at 3:05.

Train 26 to New York, formerly 8:47 a.m., now 8:45; Train 2 to New York, formerly 12:47 p.m., now 1:06; Train 4 to New York (Sundays only), formerly 12:45 p.m., now 12:45; Trains 44 and 46, weekdays and Sundays to New York, formerly 8:27 p.m., now 8:25.

Bus Schedules

A spokesman for local bus lines based at the American House said schedules of Frank Martz Coach Co. remain essentially the same.

Greyhound lines has dropped its 9 a.m. express to New York and replaces the 4:33 p.

m. express with one leaving at 5:15 p.m.

The 6:10 p.m. express to New York has also been dropped and the express which formerly left here at 8:13 p.m. now departs at 7:43.

A spokesman said the 11:35 p.m. express and about two other late evening buses have been dropped. The only early morning bus to New York remaining on the schedule leaves here at 4:18 a.m.

The only change in the Philadelphia schedule, according to the spokesman, is that the 11:06 a.m. bus has been dropped.

County Clergymen Support Sitting Judge Principle

THE MONROE COUNTY Ministerial Assn. held a special meeting Sunday night in the East Stroudsburg Methodist Church.

Members of the association voted unanimously to endorse the "sitting judge" principle. Rev. Wingerter, president, said each minister was interested in bipartisan support for a worthy, tried and experienced judge that he may be retained on the bench for better government. They are of the opinion that politics should not play any part in the selection of a man for so important a position, he added.

In putting their seal of approval upon the "sitting judge" principle, members of the Ministerium, wholeheartedly supported Judge Fred W. Davis. "They love him not only because he is experienced and efficient but because he is impartial and honest," said Rev. Eaton, host pastor.

Other ministers of the association who have expressed support of the "sitting judge" principle besides those attending are: Rev. C. Clyde Levergood, Rev. P. H. Loftus, Rev. Charles A. Park and Rev. Donald B. Schaeffer.

Stokes Mill Bridge Opens Temporarily

THE NEW bridge crossing Broadheads Creek on Stokes Mill Road, replacing one washed out in the 1955 flood, was opened to traffic on a temporary basis yesterday. The contractor is A. E. Eschenbach and Son.

Joseph C. Clampi, Monroe County superintendent for the State Highway Dept. said the stone base approaches to the bridge have been laid and it is expected blacktopping will be completed either today or tomorrow.

The bridge provides a link between Routes 90 and 196 north of the Stroudsburgs.

The Winnipeg River, a major source of hydroelectric power, has a total drop of 271 feet within Manitoba to Lake Winnipeg.

Why No Endorsement?

One of the best political customs, usually observed and seldom breached, is what has become known as the "sitting judge principle."

Briefly stated it is this: any judge who serves satisfactorily an elective term on the bench, and whose competence and integrity are without question, is entitled to bipartisan support for reelection, as long as he wishes to serve.

The purpose, of course, is to put judges above and beyond the necessity of engaging in party politics to win reelection.

Judges serve a 10-year term, and the conscientious judge has plenty to do in his court work these days without adding any political duties. Nor would most citizens look with favor on political activity by judges. They prefer their judges to be independent.

The best way to keep judges out of politics, once they attain the bench, is to assure them of solid support when election time comes around again.

All this The Daily Record believes to be in the best interest of all citizens. It felt the same way three years ago when it endorsed Judge Chester H. Rhodes, a Democrat, for reelection to the Superior Court of Pennsylvania.

Similar endorsements came from the Democratic state organization, the Pennsylvania Bar, Monroe County Bar and many other local bar associations throughout the state. Among the prominent Republicans who worked actively for the Democratic sitting judges were former U. S. Sen. George Wharton Pepper and former U. S. Supreme Court Justice Owen J. Roberts.

(The Democratic State Committee not only endorsed the sitting judge principle in 1954, but did so on previous occasions dating back to 1939.)

Non-partisan lawyers' committees for the reelection of the three judges were organized in 33 counties. The Monroe County group consisted of Arlington W. Williams, Elmer D. Christine, Charles R. Bensinger, Leo A. Achterman, Harold C. Edwards and Forrest J. Mervine. In Pike County, Sidney L. Krawitz headed the committee.

In view of the fact that Democratic party leaders in 1954 adopted the sitting judge principle and endorsed a Republican, along with the two Democrats, we are at a loss to understand why local Democratic chieftains have not seen fit to follow the same policy.

In other words, why have they failed to support Judge Fred W. Davis, the Republican incumbent with 12 years' experience on the bench?

Is it because they do not believe that one of the essential cornerstones upon which American liberties depend is an independent judiciary?

Do they dispute the generally accepted principle that political considerations should play no part in the selection of judges?

Do they now disagree that qualified jurists, who have demonstrated their ability on the bench, should be endorsed by both political parties, regardless of the political faith of the judge?

The answer, or answers, to these questions can best be supplied by Democratic party leaders. It will be interesting to hear what they have to say.

Keep Perspective On Labor

George Meany, president of the AFL-CIO, emphasized a point the other day that needs to be borne in mind as legislative measures are considered to help eliminate gangsterism and corruption from the labor movement.

"It is one thing," said Meany, "to eliminate from positions of authority and control traitors to true trade unionism and to make it difficult for would-be traitors to carry on their work of despoliation. It is another thing to seek to destroy the trade union movement itself."

The McClellan committee has turned up a mess in several labor unions. The disclosures indicate that new laws are needed to keep itchy fingers out of union welfare funds and union treasuries generally, to make union leaders accountable in their trusteeships and to devise some way of making unions more democratic.

But the findings do not provide excuse for the buckshot blast against the entire labor movement that the traditional foes of labor and at least two Republican members of the committee—Mundt of South Dakota and Curtis of Nebraska—seem to want.

Weakening the effectiveness of all unions—the great majority of which are clean and decent—is not the way to help them get rid of the rats in the house of labor.—Milwaukee Journal

The Pennsylvania Story

Insurance Fund's Misuse

Harrisburg — Pennsylvania's state-operated insurance business—the State Workmen's Insurance Fund—competing with some 140 private insurance companies in itself is not peculiar to the Democratic administration.

In fact it was set up originally by Republicans and maintained solidly over the years by succeeding Republican administrations.

None of this is the point at issue. What is of concern is the fact that as a competitor with private industry the state obviously should get out of the business, a legislative, not an administrative responsibility.

Second point at issue is the operation of the insurance fund itself.

The fact that an old political pro—Beaver County Democrat—

Chairman Samuel G. Neff—in running the insurance fund show merely serves to spotlight the issue.

For his $12,500 salary Neff as the manager of the agency, a mere subdivision of the Department of Labor and Industry, has at his disposal both a budget and a payroll greater than some departments on Capitol Hill.

Here is one way in which the fund is used—a fund supported by insurance premiums from employers throughout the state.

Last summer an eastern newspaper published a blown up story based on a departmental "news release" (more familiarly known to veteran Capitol Hill newsmen as "propaganda handouts") purporting to show how Neff has discovered a $1 million mislaid deal with the fund—via employers supposedly submitting false payroll and thus not paying their full insurance fee.

Interestingly, although the so-called fraud was discovered over a year ago, the "investigation" is still going on.

But what is also of considerable interest is the fact that during the past month Pennsylvania employers who carry their insurance with the fund have received in the mail an offset reproduction of the newspaper story placing Neff on a pedestal.

To turn out this piece of propaganda at the expense of the fund must have cost conservatively around $1000.

In the first place with some 23,000 fund subscribers on the mailing list, postage alone would round out close to $700. The offset printing for the three pages enclosed has been conservatively estimated at around $175.

Added to this is the cost of the envelopes which in the upper left carry "Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, Department of Labor and Industry, State Workmen's Insurance Fund."

Also there is the time and labor involved in stuffing 23,000 envelopes, as well as the addressing of the envelopes.

Addressing? The regular addressing offices used by the fund for its "official" mailings were used for this seemingly obvious aggrandizement stunt.

Significantly this is the fund which this column exposed in January as having employees in one or more jobs—in addition to their state jobs, such as the "safety inspector" employed by the fund at $3913 a year, but who also held a job as foreman in a steel plant at $6000 a year, and who served as a town Burgess at $2500 a year.

County Chairman Neff is also the man bitterly complained about in a letter to Governor Leader this month from a former State Commander of the Disabled American Veterans alleging that Neff had remarked to a veteran who had lost both legs while in the armed forces and who was a former highway employee in Neff-controlled Beaver County, that he had "hid behind his legs long enough."

George Sokolsky Says...

Enemies Surround Turkey

The battleground of this period in the war between the Soviet Universal State and the NATO group of nations is called the Middle East, an area which is described definitely in the Immigration and Nationality Act of 1957 as follows:

"For the purposes of this section, the term 'general area of the Middle East' means the area between and including (1) Libya on the west, (2) Turkey on the north, (3) Pakistan on the east, and (4) Saudi Arabia and Ethiopia on the south."

This is very broad and un-geographical but it serves to focus attention on the effort of Soviet Russia to surround, to isolate, and eventually to overcome Turkey, our best and perhaps only true ally in that part of the world.

The Turkish government has given circulation to a map showing the situation of Turkey in 1941. The Nazis were in the Balkans and all southern Russia. Hitler had attempted to encircle Turkey by establishing a Nazi satellite government in Syria. That would have completed the circle and against that Turkey held out.

Today Turkey is faced by the same kind of encirclement. Although Greece and Turkey should be in alliance, Greece has been stirred up against Turkey over Cyprus which in the circumstances of the world today has become a snare and a nuisance. Bulgaria is a Russian satellite.

Soviet Russia lies opposite Turkey on the Black Sea and Syria has now become a Soviet satellite. Turkey is surrounded by enemies and there can be little question but that Soviet Russia plans the reduction of Egypt, namely, that of a country whose independence depends upon Soviet goodwill.

Just as Nassar would like to get out of the trap which he forged for himself, so Turkey prefers not to have anything at all to do with Soviet Russia.

The question then arises what we, Turkey's principal ally and defender, are willing to do. We may not of Turkey, as we may of other allies, that the Turks did not come to our aid when needed. The Turks fought in Korea, by our side, with all that this small country was able to give. The Turks have been loyal to us. Are we going to be loyal to the Turks?

This could mean a general war. A very intelligent man once raised this question: Soviet Russia is a great distance ahead of us in the development of guided missiles and other non-conventional instruments of war. Is not this the right moment for the Russians to produce a sudden attack upon us, one that is so swift and damaging that retaliation becomes trivial in comparison with the damage done here?

To this I replied, "No!" There is a pattern to Soviet conduct which has been constant and orthodox. This pattern would indicate that Soviet Russia does not destroy any of the physical equipment of the countries that she conquers.

There is less an ambition to overthrow than to absorb. To a materialistic Marxist it is ridiculous to burn down a church; it makes more sense to use it as a stable or as a club for young people.

What would be the advantage, the materialistic advantage, of destroying Detroit or Pittsburgh when both cities are so useful in the production of goods and equipment? It would seem to me that the Russian program, particularly as devised by the humorist Khrushchev, would be:

1. To scare the countries of Western Europe and of the Mediterranean into rejecting American friendship as too expensive;

2. To create distrust of the American Government within the United States;

3. To use Sputniks like neon signs to establish Russia's superiority in fields that used to be America's specialty;

4. To keep the Middle East in constant disorder;

5. To weaken our economy by keeping us permanently on a war basis;

6. To pour billions into our Stock Exchange operations through Zurich, Amsterdam and London, to keep the stock-market fluctuating like a roller-coaster.

If war comes, it will be accidental, but the above are the jobs that Soviet Russia expects will win the ultimate victory of reducing the West to a secondary position. If the United States is isolated without a fighting war, Soviet Russia has achieved its objective.

The Once Over

by H. I. Phillips

With Sputnik no longer a surprise package, Uncle Sam has had time to decode the message, and is replying like this:

"I get it now, Sputz. Your beep-beep has done me a favor. It knocked off my rose-colored glasses."

Significantly this is the fund which this column exposed in January as having employees in one or more jobs—in addition to their state jobs, such as the "safety inspector" employed by the fund at $3913 a year, but who also held a job as foreman in a steel plant at $6000 a year, and who served as a town Burgess at $2500 a year.

Robert S. Allen Reports...

May Recall Congress

Washington — Reconvening Congress a month or so ahead of its scheduled January 7 session is being seriously deliberated in Inner White House councils.

The matter was discussed at length at the last cabinet meeting. Various urgent domestic and foreign problems were cited as favoring an early recall of Congress. But principal consideration centered on the Treasury's increasing difficulties to keep within the $275 billion national debt limit.

Grave doubts about being able to do that very much longer were frankly voiced by Secretary Robert Anderson. The Treasury head explained his pessimism as due to the following:

That day the national debt stood at $273,967,147,000—approximately $1 billion under the statutory ceiling.

Also, the Treasury's cash balance was $4,736,072,215—to which it had astonishingly dropped from more than $7 billion only 30 days previous.

"These margins are far too meager for any dependable assurance that we can stay within the debt limit for a predictable length of time," said Anderson. "This is the period of the fiscal year when Treasury receipts are normally low, while government expenditures are accelerating."

An emergency at home or abroad requiring additional spending, Anderson warned, would definitely lead to speedy breaching of the debt ceiling.

"We have to face the unhappy fact that we're skating on very thin fiscal ice," declared Anderson. "The next few weeks will largely tell whether we will be able to get by for the remainder of this year."

"In other words," added President Eisenhower, "the condition of the Treasury's cash balance around the middle of November will tell the story."

"Yes, sir," replied Anderson. "That is correct."

The complexities facing the Treasury in this trying situation are highlighted in the forthcoming issue of ECONOMIC OUTLOOK, published by the Joint Congressional Committee on the Economic Report. This report will state:

"The cumulative budget deficit for the first quarter of the current fiscal year (July, August and September) was $25 billion, due primarily to seasonably low tax collections. This sizable budget deficit is significant because for the same period last year it was only $1.7 billion."

Another important factor noted in the study is that government spending in this quarter was $17.9 billion as compared to $16.4 billion in 1956. Thus, notwithstanding the widely controversial cutbacks in defense, research and other expenditures, total government outlays for July, August and September were $15 billion greater than in those months greater than in those months last year.

A major reason for that, according to this report, is that military, foreign aid, Atomic Energy Commission and stockpiling costs totalled $11 billion as against $9 billion in 1956.

Calming Them—Worried Defense Department officials are getting encouraging inside word about the Senate Armed Services Committee's investigation of the hotly disputed missiles and satellites programs.

They are being told to lose no sleep over this probe, but to watch out for the House and Senate Appropriations Committees when Congress reconvenes.

These two potent Committees are out for Pentagon and other scalps.

That's the warning of Senator Styles Bridges, N. H., chairman of the GOP Policy Committee, and a leading Republican member of both the Appropriations Committee and the Armed Services Committee. On the latter, he has an inside track on what is transpiring in its missile investigation. "There will be very few public hearings by the Committee," Bridges told Assistant Defense Secretary W. J. McNeil. "Too much security is involved for open sessions. Russell (D., Ga., chairman) plans to have the Preparedness Subcommittee staff make a study of missiles and satellite matters and to report to the full Armed Committee. It will then interrogate Defense officials behind closed doors."

"What about Symington (D., Mo.)?" asked McNeil.

"He is definitely someone to be worried about," conceded Bridges. "But I would say he is about the only one. But there are a number on the two Appropriations Committees to be leery of. I understand the Democrats are preparing for full-scale investigations of their own, and they may very well give you a lot of trouble."

Note—The last two out of the three tests of THOR, the Air Force's intermediate range ballistic missile, have been successful. In one of these firings, chiefly for accuracy, the IRBM covered 1,800 miles and came within 10 miles of hitting the target area. In the second test, for distance, the THOR went more than 2,200 miles—the furthest it has ever gone. In both firings the missile soared "several hundred" miles into space. Recently a JUPITER-C, the Army's rival IRBM, soared upwards of 730 miles, covered around 3,200 miles, and attained speeds greater than 15,000 mph.

From The Readers

Dear Editor:

On Election Day we will elect or reelect a judge of the court.

In my opinion the real issue is beyond persons or parties. We decide whether or not we shall protect the court from the influence of politics and politicians.

In my opinion that is the most important matter to be settled.

It is safe to assume that any judge will decide justly, where the decision is clear.

However there will be many cases where the decision will be very close, when even a well-intentioned judge can be biased by political expediency.

Certainly we want our courts to be free from any such pressures, and the only way to avoid them is to establish a rule that once a man becomes judge, he shall be kept in office, except in case he should prove to be unworthy.

Luther E. Markin

I am not well acquainted with the legal ability of either man, though it does seem to me that twelve years of experience should carry some weight.

However, I am sure that there is not enough difference to justify us in ignoring an opportunity to set our court above politics.

If we are governed by this rule, now, then it will be pretty well established, but if we fail, it will be years before we can establish the principle of sitting judge.

So here is an opportunity to put our citizenship above parties or persons, and raise our court to the highest possible level of unbiased justice.

This letter represents my own personal views and should not be construed as expressing the opinion of the Presbyterian Church of the Mountain, Delaware Water Gap, where I serve as pastor.

Uncle Sam Goes After Scientists

Washington — The government is taking steps to bring in more scientific knowhow.

The Civil Service Commission, in particular, is helping boost recruitment of scientists and engineers for federal jobs essential to United States security and welfare.

The commission has relaxed its long-standing policy against use of paid advertising by federal agencies or recruitment of candidates for civil service examinations.

The commission said agencies may now advertise for scientists and engineers in professional and trade journals and in college publications, subject to standards established by the commission.

In addition, advertisements may be placed in general circulation media in connection with an agency representative's visit to a particular locality to recruit scientists and engineers. Recruits, secured through this, as through other means, will be processed through usual competitive examining procedures.

America First—The United States government is reading a big "See America First" campaign in an effort to keep more tourist dollars at home.

Heading the drive is George Bender, former Republican senator from Ohio, who is a special assistant to Interior Secretary Fred Seaton.

Bender's prime desire is to steer tourists to American territories if they are bent on overseas travel.

He explains: "Considerable American money is spent annually in travel throughout the world. Our territories have much to offer—climate and environment as well as business opportunities."

And so Bender is trying, through whatever publicity he can obtain, to promote "tourism and trade in the American territories and the Commonwealth of Puerto Rico."

Just Between Us —

—By Bobby Westbrook

Speaking of habit, I suppose it will take about a week before we begin to lose that sense of urgency that comes with darkness an hour earlier at night. The change to Standard time we remember with our minds but not with the rest of us.

With the fading light, our eyes keep telling us "Hurry, hurry, it's later than you think." And there's a protest from our stomach, "It's eating time," even though the clock reads only five o'clock.

Maybe your time mechanism is more easily adjusted, but mine sends me around for a whole week in a White Rabbit dither of "I'm late, I'm late, I'm late." When my mind digs in stubbornly to insist, "No, you're not," I slow down so much that I really am.

Well, the change comes just at the right time for some people. Last night, the trick-or-treaters were out in force. It's no fun, apparently, to go masquerading around the neighborhood in broad daylight and mothers can be so unreasonable about school night bed time.

Personally I don't think it would be as much fun to go around with a boughten bag marked "Tricks or Treats" to get candy or gum also done up in "Trick or Treat" boxes bought at a store. Makes it seem such a cut-and-dried procedure, somehow.

When we were little, we cherished the fond illusion that trick-or-treat was something we had made up ourselves, and grown-ups who answered the door were supposed to be surprised and a little startled at us all. We believed that the apples, the piece of cake or the bit of candy they gave us were just something they happened to have around.

However, the older I grow the more I notice a tendency to think nothing is quite as exciting as it used to be, so you'll have to make allowances. But one thing I'm sure hasn't changed.

No trick or treat expedition is truly successful unless you get chased by at least one irate householder. Every block ought to have at least one grouch, preferably with a cane and a baleful eye, to send the small goblins high-tailing it for home with their hearts pounding in fearful joy or joyful fear, it's hard to tell which.

Mrs. Roy Schreck Is President Of Jolly Jane Club

Bartonville — Mrs. Joseph Dunbar entertained the members of the Jolly Jane Club of Bartonville on Tuesday night, Oct. 22, when their first meeting of the Fall season was held. Officers for the coming year were elected as follows: president, Mrs. Roy Schreck; vice president, Mrs. Russell Bond; secretary-treasurer, Mrs. Joseph Dunbar; reporter, Mrs. Richard Coss.

Numbers were drawn to decide who would serve as hostesses at this year's Christmas party. They will be Mrs. James N. ## The William Cowells Mark Golden Wedding Wed.

Portland — Mr. and Mrs. William Cowell, of Portland, will celebrate their golden wedding anniversary on Wednesday, October 30 with an open house from 7 to 9 p. m. They were married October 30, 1907, in the Presbyterian Manse at Portland by the late Rev. W. S. Welby, pastor.

Trick Or Treat For UNICEF Here On Wed.

"Trick or Treat" for others not for themselves is the theme of the youngsters who will be calling at homes in the Stroudsburg, Water Gap and Anapolim on Wednesday night. Thursday has been designated as UNICEF Day for the school children in the Stroud Union School district who will collect funds for the United Nations Children's Emergency Fund instead of treats for themselves.

Anyone who is not contacted by a trick-or-treater on Wednesday night can send their contribution to one of the schools participating in the program: Ramsey, Morey, Arlington Heights, Delaware Water Gap, and Anapolim.

The program received a big boost on national television, and a local film, Danny Kaye's "Assignment Children" viewed by approximately 750 school children here. The film was made available by the Woman's Assn. of the Stroudsburg Presbyterian Church.

Altar Guild To Add Gifts For Children

The Altar Guild of St. John's Lutheran Church will cooperate with the United Lutheran Women in sending gifts to the Inner Mission Board for children in foster homes. Two readings were given by Mrs. Joseph Barnes, one on "Angels" and the other "Biblical Prophecies." A letter was read from Mrs. Raymond Rupert, a former member. Refreshments were served by Mrs. Martin Buck, Mrs. Edwin Buck and Mrs. Henry Buck.

The New York City Police department has five helicopters on official duty.

Fire Co. Aux. Starts Fund For Decorating

Delaware Water Gap — During a busy session of the Women's Fire Aux. which met at the home of Mrs. Nelson Lightner, Sr., Monday night, the women voted $50 to the men's organization and put $50 into the savings fund for decoration of the fire hall.

Their own treasury had been enriched by a return of $112 from the recent bake sale and there are still pledges toward that fund to come in which will make an even greater return.

Arrangements were made for the square dance Saturday night, Oct. 26, at which George Wakefield was caller.

The women also arranged for the children's dance to be held at the fire hall at 7:30 p. m. Nov. 1 with Mrs. James Staples as chairman.

The committee for the supper to be held Nov. 23 at the fire hall is Mrs. Clifford Hauser, Mrs. Herbert Baker, Mrs. James Staples, Mrs. Russell Shellenberger. They are meeting at the home of Mrs. Staples to complete the menu.

The next meeting of the Women's Auxiliary will be held at the home of Mrs. H. J. LaBar. Mrs. Wm. Fisher assisted Mrs. Lightner in serving refreshments. Present were Mrs. Lewis Ace, Mrs. Russell Shellenberger, Mrs. Clifford Hauser, Mrs. James Staples, Mrs. Herbert Baker, Mrs. John Jennings, Jr., Mrs. William Fisher and Mrs. Lightner.

League Of Women Voters Endorses Absentee Voting

The League of Women Voters of Pennsylvania is actively supporting the proposed amendment to allow the extension of Absentee Voting. After intensive study over the summer, consensus was reached among the 40 leagues of Pennsylvania, and statewide support of the amendment was approved.

At present, Pennsylvania is one of only six states that do not permit civilian absentee voting. The proposed amendment, if passed at the election on Tuesday, November 5, would permit the General Assembly to draft legislation extending such absentee voting and to set up necessary procedures.

The Pennsylvania State Constitution now provides for absentee voting for all members of the military service of the Commonwealth. However, under existing laws, civilians cannot vote if they are out of town, confined because of illness or physical handicap, or employed in government services away from home.

Mrs. George Levin, president of the Provisional League of Women Voters of East Stroudsburg, urged citizens not to forget to vote on the ballot questions, and to vote "yes" on the absentee voting amendment.

BRITAIN'S OCEAN SHOWCASE

BACK ON July 28, 1609, Sir George Somers and 150 companions landed on the island of St. George, Bermuda, following the wreck of their vessel on the reefs. Since that time, countless tourists have turned this land into a treasure trove. Some honeymooners, for example, make Bermuda their first port of call. The 22-mile long resort contains a tradition for them—the moon gate, built of native stone and Chinese in origin. Custom has it that newlyweds passing through this circular gateway will receive lasting happiness. It's "reel fun" here for sport fishermen, too. The island's reefs contain some 335 varieties of fish and there are 267 more in the open sea. Shoppers, too, will enjoy the island, where cashmere sweaters sell 30 per cent less than United States prices and French perfumes 25 per cent less. And, of course, there's that superb scenery.

This is a waterfront view of Waterloo house, which is located on Hamilton harbor.

TIME FOR REST AND MEDITATION—Five nuns out for a walk through the fields near Bitterne, Southampton, England, make an unusual study in black and white as they stop for a rest at a gate. They are Roman Catholic sisters and novices of the Order of Our Lady of Charity, Redcote convent at Bitterne, Southampton.

This surf fisherman is enjoying his favorite sport.

Faith Held Key To Fight On Atheism

THIS IS the age of confusion, Rev. Gerard Rooney, C. P., told members of St. Matthew's Altar and Rosary Society on Sunday.

Fr. Rooney was the main speaker at the society's 14th annual Communion Breakfast in the Penn-Stroud Hotel. He is associate editor and literary editor of "The Sign," National Catholic Magazine published by the Passionist Order at Union City, N. J.

Several key themes are contributing to making this a confused and confusing age, he said. But he traced the largest source of evil to the "atheistic power" of Soviet Russia.

A rise in the incidence of crime, the current upheaval and corruption in the labor movement, however, have made America appear to be the most lawless nation on earth, he continued.

Abnormal Lives

"In America, a few men are splitting up the organized labor movement. We are told that out of 45 million teen-agers in this country an estimated 12 million do not have a normal home life due to broken homes, separation or divorce," the speaker said.

"The FBI reports that half of all major crimes in America were committed by teen-agers. And half of those were committed by children under 15 years of age," he said.

Despite the fact that America is being forced to spend 40 billion for armaments as military protection against the continued expansion of Communism in the world, he went on, "the Supreme Court says its perfectly all right for men to organize in our society and try to indoctrinate people with Communism and teach them to attempt to overthrow the government."

Ruling Attacked

Referring to the U. S. Supreme Court decision in the Steve Nelson case, Fr. Rooney said that the court had preempted to the federal government the rights of states to prosecute those charged with Communism conspiracy. In Massachusetts, he said, a commission looking into Red infiltration was, in effect, disbanded by the court ruling.

Defense expenditures, necessitated by the threat of Soviet expansion, have "kept us operating on a wartime budget since before the last war," he said. "We spend 40 billion each year to battle the spread of atheism abroad. Yet, here at home, we subsidize colleges and universities where atheistic doctrine is taught and the right to teach godlessness is protected in the name of academic freedom."

The fundamental weapon in the fight against godlessness in all forms, he said, is the "lamp of faith (whose) light gives perspective to all life."

"Despite the power of evil, God will be victorious," he declared. "God never permits any evil to exist except in the view of the greater good. The biggest evil we have in the world today is organized atheism but we can answer it with Christian optimism and deep-seated Christian peace and joy."

Can't Force Love

Calling the "power of friendship" the "greatest development of the human spirit" the priest said that the finest manifestation of this development is "friendship with God." He then pointed out that God does not force Man to love Him or other men but leaves this to Man's free will.

"You cannot force this love. Once you do you destroy its nature, its beauty. It has to come from the inside out," he said.

"Without Divine Love the human appetite seems to spread into a thousand directions. If we love God, first, in the human heart everything is ennobled and made lasting. We are no better, no worse than what we love. If what we love is cheap, then we are cheap; if what we love is evil, then we are evil; if what we love is good, we are good; if what we love is sublime, then we are sublime," he said.

In the combat between Christianity and atheism, the priest pointed out that "Man has always believed that God existed, but atheism is a comparatively recent thing."

He urged a strengthening of deep faith in God and love for Christ "that belongs by heritage to every real Christian."

Ministerium Endorses Aid Appeal

A SPECIAL appeal to be launched during the Thanksgiving season will ask Protestants in America for nearly $1,000,000 to finance the 1958 Share Our Surplus program through which foods from U. S. surplus stocks are distributed free to hungry people overseas.

The plea has received the endorsement of the Monroe County Ministerium.

More than 300 million pounds of food—or more than 300 pounds for each dollar of contribution—will reach needy persons abroad as a result of the 1958 SOS program. Value of the foodstuffs scheduled for such distribution is estimated at between $30 and $40 millions.

Announcement of the 1958 goals of the Share Our Surplus program—now in its fourth year—was made yesterday by Dr. R. Norris Wilson, executive director of Church World Service, which sponsors the SOS program on behalf of the American churches.

Since 1954, SOS foods sent overseas by the churches have aided millions of hungry men, women and children in Austria, Belgium, United Kingdom, France, Germany, Greece, Italy, Turkey, Yugoslavia, Egypt, Formosa, Haiti, Hong Kong, India, Indonesia, Jamaica, Japan, Jordan, Kenya, Korea, Lebanon, Liberia, Okinawa, Pakistan, Philippines, Vietnam, Algeria, Brazil, Chile, Honduras, and

Bishop Warnecke Lists Three Goals For Christ Episcopal Congregation

AT A well attended Every Member Canvass dinner last night at Christ Episcopal Church, the Rt. Rev. Frederick J. Warnecke, Bishop of Bethlehem, spoke on the duties of a Christian.

As this first point the bishop stressed the practical truth that we must pay for what we want. If we want the church we must pay for it. But Bishop Warnecke pointed out that much of what we give to the Church goes merely for our own comfort, and enjoyment, rather than for God's work in the world.

In his second point Bishop Warnecke set forth the principle of Christian stewardship. God has given us everything, our time, our talent, our treasure. Therefore all our possessions, our talents, our time should be used with integrity and responsibility as God wills, and not for our own vanity.

Generosity and unselfishness in all things are part of Christian faith and living, he said. In conclusion the bishop set before the congregation three goals for Christ Church: Commitment to the entire congregation to the principle of Christian stewardship and proportionate giving; growth in membership through evangelism by the laity; and renovation and beautifying the church building, making it worthy to be the House of God.

TWO unusual episodes happened at the East Stroudsburg Teachers-West Chester grid renewal Saturday on Normal Hill. The first was a four-play passing series exhibited by the Warriors when Eugene Martin's team reached the Rams three-yard line and had a first-and-goal-to-go situation.

The second surprise was a beef put up by West Chester coach Glen (Doc) Killinger and his assistant when the Rams were spotted a 34-0 edge.

Taking things in order the Warriors "air" maneuver from the three" might have had its justifications. Perhaps on first down you might loosen up the defense; and again on the second down an element of surprise may be in the wind. But on the third and fourth series the chances lessened for a toss to get through.

From the basic fundamentals of football it has been hammered loud and long that the way to stop a passing attack is to rush the passer. This West Chester was doing all afternoon, putting eight and nine men on the line and darting through either to make the Warrior tosser "eat dirt" or force him to just get the ball away. The "pressure" on that day was that tough as ESSTC backs were heaving off-times at targets sight unseen.

Maybe there was good thinking in attempting to go over the Rams' defense from the three. After all the Warriors running attack up to that point in the third period had gotten nowhere.

Whatever the motive, it was as Joe Whalen, WVPO sports announcer blared out over the airwaves, "the first time we have witnessed a four-straight passing maneuver from the opponents' three-yard line with a first down and goal-to-go situation. It was our first too."

No. Two episode was Killinger's words with field judge Dale Haney. Whatever was said it cost West Chester 15 yards for unsportsmanlike conduct.

This 15 yards came after another 15-yarder was assessed a Ram player for a personal foul infraction. At this point Killinger "came in" and got his team 15 more.

We couldn't understand the Rams' mentor's action. Especially when his club was enjoying a 34-0 lead and with less than 10 minutes remaining.

And to top matters, his assistant put on an exhibition following the penalty that would do justice to rollicking Leo Durocher in his heyday. However, there was no added penalty for this outburst, which was more boisterous and longer than Killinger's beef.

It seemed funny from our vantage point. Instead of a coach pulling his expected heated up players away from an official, there were two West Chester players dragging Killinger's fired up aide away from the official.

There is no doubt the shoe was on the other foot—West Chester leading 34-0 and its coaches battling like the score was all knotted up with seconds remaining.

They are booming Lehigh's quarterback Dan Nolan for All-State, All-America and All-American. And rightfully so too, for the Engineer signal-caller is having a great year in leading Bill Leckonby's Brown and White through six consecutive conquests.

But in every story of the games of the Engineers' notations are made of the play of former Stroudsburg High star, Dave Nevil.

Saturday when Lehigh whipped the Columbia Lions, 40-6, Gotham newspapers had this to say about Nevil, an end:

"Terrific on defense and one of Nolan's favorite passing targets."

"Nevil, along with Cy Williams, a tackle, anchor the Engineers line and give Lehigh balance from stem to stern."

"Nevil is a vicious tackler and a scrapping pass receiver."

We wouldn't be completely off base if next year, Lehigh and its counterparts are pushing Dave Nevil for one of these All. And like Nolan, deservedly so.

Myers' 2 TDs Leads Mates To 20-6 Win

HAROLD Myers' 70-yard touchdown run with the opening kickoff triggered East Stroudsburg Junior High to a 20-6 triumph over Stroudsburg Junior High at Gordon Giffels Field yesterday.

Myers also got off the "The Littlest Battle of the Boroughs" second best run of the day when he returned a Stroudsburg punt 55 yards for a touchdown in the third period.

John Gould tallied Eastburg's third six-point, going thirty yards around end in the final period for the score. He also plunged across for the "Tiny Cavaliers" two extra points.

Stroudsburg's Bill Starnes kept his team from a shutout when he plunged from three yards out in the fourth period. The same two teams will meet next week at Eastburg's Memorial Stadium.

Warriorettes Seek No. 5

UNBEATEN East Stroudsburg State Teachers girls field hockey team goes after its fifth straight victory today, hosting the Look Haven STC lassies on the "Hill" field, starting at 4 p.m.

The contest is a rescheduled game, postponed when the Warriorettes came down with sickness 10 days ago.

Lineup

9 Major Elevens Still Unmarried

By The Associated Press
THE number of unbeaten and untied major college football teams was down to nine today after weekend mishaps to Mississippi and Duke, an Associated Press survey disclosed.

Forty-one schools, both big and little, have perfect records with Texas A&M heading the major list with a 6-0 mark. Oklahoma, Auburn, Dartmouth, Iowa, Arizona State, Temple, Texas Western, Drake and Notre Dame survive along with the Aggies. Duke suffered its first blemish Saturday in a 14-14 tie with North Carolina State while Mississippi was beaten by Arkansas 12-6 after winning five straight.

Boxer Is Still In Poor Shape

SHEFFIELD, England, Oct. 28 (AP)—Boxer Jackie Tiller was still in a semi-conscious condition today, five months after collapsing in his dressing room following a fight.

Officials at the Sheffield Royal Infirmary said there had been "no significant change" in the condition of the bantamweight professional who was knocked down three times May 28 in a fight against Eric Brett.

Saturday when Lehigh whipped the Columbia Lions, 40-6, Gotham newspapers had this to say about Nevil, an end:

Braves And Chisox

Spahn, Donovan Top Majors In Complete Game Average

NEW YORK, Oct. 28 (AP)—Dick Donovan of the Chicago White Sox and Warren Spahn of the Milwaukee Braves, a pair of pitchers who like to finish what they start, boasted the best complete game averages in the majors in 1957.

Donovan, 29, completed 16 of 28 starts for a .571 percentage, tops in the American League. Spahn went the route 18 times in 25 starts. The southpaw was the National League leader with a .514 mark.

Figures compiled by The Associated Press also disclosed today Spahn's 18 complete games were high in the majors. Pittsburgh's Bob Friend was runner-up with 17. Donovan, teammate Billy Pierce and the Giants' Ruben Gomez each had 15.

Pierce ranked second to Donovan in the complete game averages with 16 CG's in 34 starts for a .471 percentage. Boston's Tommy Brewer was third with 15 in 32 for a .469 mark.

Sanford Had 15
Rookie Jack Sanford, a 19-game winner with Philadelphia, trailed Spahn with 15 route-going games in 33 starts for a .45 average.

The Braves' Bob Buhl finished third with 15 in 44 complete games in 31 starting assignments. The White Sox' and Braves' staffs paced the majors in complete games. Each staff accounted for 59.

Behind the White Sox in the American League came Boston 56, Detroit 52, Cleveland 46, Baltimore 43, New York 41, Washington 31 and Kansas City 25—the lowest in both leagues.

In the National League Philadelphia trailed Milwaukee with 54, followed by Pittsburgh 47, St. Louis 46, the Dodgers 44, Cincinnati 40, the Giants 35 and Chicago 30.

Lead Blank Jobs
Johnny Podres of the Dodgers amassed the most shutouts in the National League, six. His victims including the Pirates and Giants twice each and the Phils and Cards once.

The White Sox' Jim Wilson posted five shutouts—tops in the junior circuit. He blanked the A's and Red Sox twice apiece and the Senators once.

Army, Navy 1-2 For East Award

NEW YORK, Oct. 28 (AP)—Army and Navy are running one-two in the race for the Lambert Trophy, emblematic of the Eastern college football championship.

The selection committee of coaches, sports writers and sports-casters today gave Army a 9.9 rating out of a possible 10 and Navy 9.1. Syracuse, the 1956 winner and third last week, dropped to sixth after its defeat by Penn State. Pittsburgh, beaten by Notre Dame, took over third place.

RECORD AT END?—Veteran end on the Pittsburgh Steelers' team, Elbie Nickel has played in 124 straight games. He's now on the shelf with a badly bruised arm and may not get in the game with the Eagles October 27. (International)

Jewel's Reward Injures Foot

NEW YORK, Oct. 28 (AP)—Mrs. Elizabeth N. Graham said today her 2-year-old colt, Jewel's Reward, a leading contender for the juvenile title, had suffered a slight bruise on his right forefoot but she hoped he would be ready to race in the Pimlico Futurity.

Jewel's Reward, winner of the Tremont, Cowdin, Champagne and Washington Park Futurity, finished out of the money in the $277,150 Garden State Stakes won by Nadir, at Camden, N. J., Saturday.

Defends Watered Education But—

Accuses Schools Of Turning Athletics Into Burlesques

CHICAGO, Oct. 28 (AP)—Historian Henry Steele Commager defended American high schools today against often heard charges of watered down education but accused them of degrading athletics into a burlesque show.

"More and more the athletic tail is wagging the academic dog," Commager said in a speech prepared for a conference on the American high school.

"More and more young men who are protected by law from exploitation in the labor market are exploited for the convenience, the entertainment or the profit of adults."

Contrasts
"We would not expect—we would not permit—our high school daughters to entertain the community in a night club or burlesque show. There is no reason why we should permit our high school sons to entertain the community by what are in effect burlesque performances on the playing field."

Commager said that since the turn of the century high schools have overcome "the elementary task of winning or enlisting community support to their very existence."

"Yet," he said, "in one notorious realm our schools are still engaged in enlisting community interest ... with crude techniques. I refer of course to the emphasis on competitive athletics."

Few Play, Lots Watch

"I know that sports have other functions than that of exciting community interest: To teach fair play, to provide physical training to all, and so forth. Some of these purposes have been achieved ... Some are rather frustrated. A system where a handful of boys devote most of their energy to football while 1,000 students sit in stands and watch them is not one designed to provide sound bodies."

Commager's solution was "take away the dollar sign."

"Do away with paid coaches and the pressure for victory will disappear," he said.

"Do away with paid admission and dependence of other sports on football and basketball will disappear."

'Demon' Sold For $500,000

LEXINGTON, Ky., Oct. 28 (AP)—Demon Hanover, who fashioned successful careers on the race track and as a sire, was sold today for $500,000, the equal of the highest price ever paid for a standardbred horse.

John R. Gaines, 28, Lexington horseman, headed a syndicate purchasing the horse. Gaines declined to identify his associates by name, saying they were friends and well known in the sport.

Demon Hanover, who took a trotting record of 1:59 4-5, was sold by Robert Critchfield, Wooster, Ohio, attorney and owner of Gay Acres Farm.

The bay son of Dean Hanover, Sorceress will remain in Ohio next season and then be moved to Central Kentucky.

11 Straight
Harrison Hoy of Danbury, Conn. acquired Demon Hanover as a yearling. Hoy, an amateur driver in standardbred racing circles, trained and drove his trotting star to 11 consecutive victories as a 2-year-old.

He kept Demon Hanover eligible for only two major colt stakes, including the Hambletonian which the horse took in straight heats in 1948 on his way to 18 wins in 23 starts that season.

Demon Hanover was raced for three more seasons, winding up with a bankroll of $187,000, at that time the largest earnings held by a trotting stallion.

Critchfield purchased the horse for $82,000.

Grigger, 17, Dies

MILWAUKEE, Oct. 28 (AP)—John Barczak, 17, Don Bosco High School football player injured in a scrimmage Oct. 11, died at St. Francis Hospital today. An autopsy showed the cause of death was a ruptured kidney. Barczak, a half-back and linebacker, was injured when he threw a cross body block at a teammate during a practice scrimmage.

Worked Under Six

BETHLEHEM, Pa. — Dr. Emil A. Havach, Lehigh University trainer, has served under the following football coaches: Austin Tate, Lehigh; Glen Harneson, Lehigh; Heinie Miller, Temple; Glenn (Pop) Warner, Temple; Leo Prendergast, Lehigh; and Bill Leckonby, Lehigh.

First In Baseball

BETHLEHEM, Pa. — Dick Hoogstraten, Lehigh University senior reserve quarterback from Clifton, N. J., who has played in the shadow of starter Dan Nolan during his college career, has been a first string catcher on the baseball squad for two years.

PRINCETON, N. J., Oct. 28 (AP)—Charlie Caldwell, 56, Princeton University football coach, was in serious condition tonight in Princeton Hospital where he was taken for possibly surgery.

Dr. J. Mercer Rampona, Caldwell's physician, ordered the coach transferred there earlier in the day because of complications arising from an infection.

The university granted Caldwell a medical leave Sept. 23 after he had put his team through most of its pre-season practice. Dick Colman, an assistant, has been acting coach in Caldwell's absence.

By BILLY SIXTY
High or Low For Change
In Speed

BECAUSE alley surfaces vary from slick to slow, stars make the changing conditions by (1) changing the angle of the ball or (2) changing the position of the ball to begin with.

Practice will determine which method to adopt. I suggest holding the ball either high or low to effect a change of speed. It is the simpler, more workable plan for consistent results. The swinging arm regulates the speed of the ball, and the arc at full length from a chest-high starting position (see sketch) generates more speed naturally than the smaller arc from a below-the-waist start.

Suggestion

On a tacky alley, lacking pollen, hold the ball high and use the same amount of push-away that you would below the waist. The arc regulates itself. And the position of the body adjusts itself naturally. The shoulders dip or drop forward as the ball is held lower.

Remember this: Allow for a longer stride when you hold the ball high to time the swing and footwork better. The ball has to have more time to complete its arc. For the long swing, start by using the full length (16 feet) of approach or runway and adjust the stride as the arc decreases.

Shantz '57 Surge Is Rated AL's Comeback Of The Year

By BEN OLAN

NEW YORK, Oct. 28 (AP)—Bobby Shantz rallied from a 2-7 pitching record in 1956 to win 11 games and the American League's earned run championship in the past season. He was an important factor in the pennant drive of the New York Yankees.

For his performance, the left-hander today was credited with having made the American League comeback of the year by members of the Baseball Writers Assn. of America.

Sixty-nine of the 152 writers in the annual Associated Press poll voted for Shantz. Gene Woodling, Cleveland outfielder, was named on 32 ballots.

Williams 3rd

Ted Williams of Boston, who won the league's batting title for the fifth time, was third with 12 votes. He was followed by Washington outfielder Roy Sievers and Baltimore pitcher Billy Loes. Each had nine.

Shantz, 32, who at 5-6½ is the shortest player in the majors, was acquired from Kansas City last February. Although tabbed for bullpen duty by Manager Casey Stengel, he became the club's top spotswallow following an injury to Whitely Ford.

In the first two months of the season he batted every inch the pitcher he was in 1952 when a 2-7 record with Philadelphia brought him the circuit's Most Valuable Player award. Bobby went into a slump after mid-season but again came on strong in the final month to now out teammate Tom Sturdivent for the earned run crown with a 2.45 mark.

The recent campaign was his most productive since 1952. Plagued by a sore arm most of the time, he compiled a 5-9 record in 1953, 1-0 in 1954, and 5-10 in 1955.

Informed of the honor at his home in Ambler, Pa., just outside Philadelphia, Shantz said: "Gosh, if you can't win for the Yankees, who can you win for?"

He praised the Yankees as a "great defensive team who make a pitcher's job easy."

Thanks Many

He said that among the many people he had to thank for "what-ever comeback the writers think I made are former Kansas City manager Lou Boudreau and trainer Jim Ewell, my wife, mother and father for their unwavering faith, and just plain old luck. Tell the writers thanks for remembering me."

Woodling, a .262 batter in 1956, finished with a .322 average in 1957. This was his highest mark in an 11-year big league career that also included stints with Pittsburgh of the National League and New York and Baltimore in the American.

Crosby To Buy Detroit Stock

HOLLYWOOD, Calif., Oct. 28 (AP)—Singer Bing Crosby said today he has exercised an option to buy stock in the Detroit Tigers American League baseball team.

Crosby said he probably will transfer the stock he holds in the Pittsburgh Pirates of the National League in exchange for Detroit stock. He indicated there would be no cash involved in the transaction and dismissed reports that he would invest about $300,000 in the American League club.

"Actually, I'll be a very minor stockholder," said Bing, who came here to tape a show. He is honeymooning with his bride of four days, Kathy Grant, at Palm Springs.

Shippensburg Takes Lead In PTEC

JOHNSTOWN, Pa., Oct. 28—

Shippensburg moved into first place of the Pennsylvania State Teachers Colleges Football Conference by eliminating Edinboro, 20-14, in a game scheduled at the last minute when Millersville cancelled on Shippensburg and Mansfield cancelled on Edinboro. Both cancellations were made due to number of flu cases at the two colleges, marking the fifth and sixth STC conference games cancelled this season due to flu.

The scheduling of the Shippensburg-Edinboro game may prove to be the deciding factor for the championship of the conference as the win may give the Red Raiders enough points to nose out Lock Haven and West Chester by three percentage points. In the Saylor-system of ratings used by the conference, the caliber of opponents is considered in computing the standings.

11th Straight

West Chester opened its conference season last weekend by drubbing East Stroudsburg, 34-0, for the Rams' 11th straight victory over a two-year span. Lock Haven remained undefeated this season by handing Indiana a 26-0 beating. In only other conference game played, California won its first of the season by noing out Clarion, 6-0.

DeMarco, Akins Will Fight For Bay State 'Welter' Title

BOSTON, Oct. 28 (AP)—Tough Athletic Commission and the World Championship Boxing Committee have refused to go along. The NBA, New York commission and the world committee are working to set up an elimination tournament for the championship vacated by Carmen Basilio's advance to the middleweight title last month.

Shorter Route

Although the bout is scheduled for the championship distance of 15 rounds, most observers don't think it will go that far. DeMarco is regarded by many as the hardest hitter in the 147-pound division, while Akins, 29, also is noted as a stiff puncher. Each is hopeful of scoring an early knockout.

DeMarco has a record of 54-1-1. He has stopped four times, twice by Basilio in title bouts. Akins has a 45-15-1 record, with 24 knockouts. He has been stopped only twice.

Home Friends Cite Burdette

SARASOTA, Fla., Oct. 28 (AP)—World Series pitching hero Lew Burdette's hometown friends honored him today with a gala parade and a baseball park party thronged with autograph-seeking small fry.

The rambled, crewcut Milwaukee Braves hurler was presented an outdoor cabin cruiser, a plaque hailing him as an example to youth, and an Indian war rattle.

Before he was rushed by whooping youngsters who brandished baseball-shaped "Lew Burdette Club" badges for him to sign, Burdette told the crowd:

"Very Excited"

"I'm very excited. It was so wonderful for you to do all this for me and my family. We're so happy we picked Sarasota for our home. We hope we'll be here a long time."

Fans presented pretty Mrs. Burdette a bouquet of roses. Burdette's son, Lew Kent Burdette, 6, got a fishing rod and the pitcher's daughter, Midge, 3, received a bride doll about her own size.

Built In 1914

BETHLEHEM, Pa., — Taylor Stadium, home grounds of the Lehigh University football team, was constructed in 1914. It was the gift of the late Charles L. Taylor, Class of '76.

Greene-Dreher Fair Dates Fixed. Officers Elected; Building Plans Discussed

NEWFOUNDLAND—Election of officers, the setting of "Fair Days" and discussion of a new building program highlighted the Fall meeting of the Greene-Dreher-Sterling Community Fair Assn.

Carroll Fetherman was re-elected president, heading the slate: George Schmalze, first vice president; Samuel DeFrehn, III, second vice president; Robert Staph, secretary; Clayton Northrup, assistant secretary; Leon Scheibler, treasurer.

Directors elected during the final business meeting for 1957 were Willard Croft, George Schmalze, Robert Staph, Samuel DeFrehn, Leon Scheibler, Richard McLain and Mrs. Lawrence Simons. They will serve for three-year terms.

S. Elmore Haag was appointed to succeed Carl Smith as director, the term to expire in 1958.

Auditors Named
Mr. Fetherman named to the auditing committee, Mrs. Helen Feigel, Mrs. Ruth Ann Cunningham and Mrs. Constance Edwards.

An amendment to the constitution was approved prior to the election, calling for the addition of a second vice president to the executive body.

A treasury balance of $1,865.30 was reported by Leon Scheibler.

Bruce Banks, who headed a committee including Willard Newcomer and Lewis Osborn, reported at length on the proposed new 34 by 80 foot exhibit building. The project was referred back to the committee for further study.

The association voted to send Haag, Staph and Fetherman to the State Fair Assn. convention in Allentown in January for information on fair rides and equipment.

Decision On Bandshell
The dates for the 41st annual Greene-Dreher-Sterling Community Fair were set for August 21, 22 and 23, 1958.

Dr. Frank Urdel, speaking for the Newfoundland Rotary Club of which he is immediate past president, reported that the unit will decide this week on whether to erect a community band shell on the fairgrounds.

Fetherman presided during the business session. Rev. Dr. Frederick G. Fulmer, pastor of the Moravian Church of Newfoundland, offered an invocation of thanks for the successful fair of the past seasons.

The next business session of the association will be held Feb. 19, 1958, beginning at 8 p.m. in the school.

Fads Flare And Fade Among Younger Adults

By Eugene Gilbert
President of the Gilbert
Youth Research Co.

SILVER threads among the gold is developing into a national fad among teen-aged girls.

From Baton Rouge, La., to Walla Walla, Wash., bobby soxers are daubing their locks with peroxide and other bleaches to achieve a sleek streak of silver among blonde, brunette or raven tresses. Called "lightning bright," the two-toned hairdo is replacing many of the boyish Italian haircuts and ponytail styles of a year or so ago in the nation's high schools.

The "silvered coiffure" is only one of a number of teen-aged fads we encountered in a nationwide survey of youthful antics. We learned, for instance, that racoon coats are coming back faster than you think, that blue jeans and sloppy-Joe sweaters are on the way out, that teen-agers have a dozen different ways of indicating "going steady" and that, despite these capers, this year's high schooler will be neater, dressier and more conservative than last year's model.

Remember The Goldfish?

Some adults, no doubt, will be upset by these youthful methods of gaining attention, but they ought to think back to their own college and high school days when swallowing gold fish, wearing lumberjack shirts and doing the "Big Apple" were the rage. Caught in the nether world between childhood and manhood, teen-agers dote on being different from both age groups. In a way, they hate to grow up and they hate to be treated like kids, so they compromise by originating fashions, hobbies and even a language that are all their own.

Perhaps "originating" is too strong a word, since most of these antics are borrowed and adapted from other generations and other walks of life.

The "lightning bright" hairdo may be new on most high school and college campuses this year, but it is certainly nothing new in the world of fashion. Cafe society and later Hollywood saw a brief flair for this style several years ago. It didn't last, probably because most women weren't too anxious to hasten the day when a grey streak appeared in their coiffures.

What else is considered de rigueur with this year's teen-aged set?

Sloppy Look Fads

In the east, another two tone hair-do, achieved by an off color or chignon, is gaining popularity, particularly along the Atlantic seaboard. Shocking contrast seems to be its main aim. A girl with blonde hair will attach a chignon of flaming orange, a brunette will add a chignon wig of blonde and a red-head might resort to platinum or even lavender.

"It looks ghastly," admitted a Flushing, N. Y., senior, "but at least it draws the looks. People think you got splashed going under a painter's scaffold."

With levis and dungarees gone from the fashion scene among "hip" (i.e. culturally integrated) teen-agers, girls will lean heavily towards Bermuda shorts, straight skirts, pale pink lipstick, silver and neutral nail polishes, shetland sweaters, wool socks (worn high east of the Mississippi, rolled in a cuff in the West), racoon coats, crew neck jerseys, and khaki slacks and car coats in polished cotton. A new jewelry fad is pearl studs inserted in perforated ear lobes.

Boys, also deserting the sloppy look, will be resplendent in charcoal grey slacks, bola (string) ties, V-neck sweaters worn over white T-shirts, brightly flowered vests, loud argyle socks, loud and large cufflinks (providing a dress shirt is worn, which is seldom).

WEARING IVY LEAGUE togs and sporting an umbrella, Ryder Martin tries to convince Gail Linke on the University of Cincinnati campus that it looks like rain.

racoon coats, and either paratroop boots or "Libs," meaning patent leather shoes like Liberace wears. Only the duck-tailed haircut prevails in their return to sartorial splendor.

Umbrellas, Man!

For some zany reason, there is a trend towards boys carrying enormous Neville Chamberlain-type umbrellas. This was particularly noted in sunny California. In Oklahoma, boys are going in for 10-gallon cowboy hats and flashy cowboy boots. And all over the country crazy hats seem to be a rage. These may be golf caps, deep sea fishing caps with long peaks, natty fedoras with long bright feathers, porkpie hats turned up "newspaper reporter" style, beanies equipped with pinwheels or pierced by a miniature clothespin, Scotch tams and French berets—in short, any kind of head covering that will gain attention.

Going steady continues as the main fad among teenagers.

Boys and girls indicate they are going steady by a variety of different clothing gimmicks. Exchanging school rings, pins, fraternity buttons, identification tags and bracelets has been popular for a number of years. But the latest trend is to wear matching bathing suits, sweaters, ice skating scarfs, brightly colored shoe laces or other tokens of esteem.

In Ohio, if a girl sports a penny between the laces and tongue of her moccasins, it means she is without a date. A dime indicates she is going steady and should not be asked. In Indiana, a boy will hang the scarf or muffler of his "steady" from the rearview mirror of his hotrod. She will make a reciprocal show of affection by wearing his football or basketball sweater.

Teen-aged jargon seems to be in decline, at least as far as originality is concerned. "At present we are speaking English," explained a 16-year-old Dexter, Ga., boy. "Hip," "cool," "Daddy-o," "most" and like expressions from the world of jazz still take a prime place in teen-aged conversation, but the "hopsters" are rapidly giving way to the Madison Avenue speech-makers.

High schoolers now emulate the advertising crowd with such expressions as: "that's the way the mop flops," "let's follow it and see what it eats," "that's the way the cookie crumbles" and "let's send it up the track and see whether it comes back local or express."

Old movies on television have resulted in this conversational gambit when a boy meets a girl for the first time: "Me Tarzan, you Jane."

C. B. Raph, 76, Dies At Bangor

BANGOR — Charles B. Raph, 76, of 123 S. Second St., died yesterday at his home. He has been in failing health for several years.

Mr. Raph was born in East Bangor and lived there all his life. He was the son of the late Linford and Amanda Shafer Raph of Bangor.

He was a member of the Bangor Lutheran Church and a member of the church council. He was associated with the Correll Meat Market for 40 years and had his own business "Raph and Company" until 15 years ago. He also operated a service station for several years.

He is survived by his wife Mrs. Frances Raph, one daughter, Mrs. Albert Divienne, Elizabeth, N. J.; a sister, Mrs. Jennie LeBar, Stroudsburg and one grand daughter.

Funeral services will be held Thursday at 2 p.m. at Bangor, Rev. Dennis of the Bangor Lutheran Church will officiate. Interment will be held at St. John's Cemetery, Bangor.

Two Infants Are Baptized

ON SUNDAY afternoon, two infants were added to the baptized membership of St. John's Lutheran Church when Rev. Dr. P. N. Wohlens officiated at the baptism of Thomas James, infant son of Mr. and Mrs. James W. Hantjies, with the parents serving as sponsors; also Craig Bradley, infant son of Mr. and Mrs. John C. Price of State College with maternal grandfather and aunt, Harold Wiggins and Lois Wiggins and the paternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. John M. Price as sponsors.

Licensees To Attend Convention

NEWFOUNDLAND — Its membership, during the current year, increased by more than 300 percent, comprising more than 40 percent of the 168 licensees of two counties, the Pike-Wayne Tavern Assn. will, for the first time, be represented at the convention of the National Liquor Dealers Assn. next month.

The session, at which delegates from the 48 states and all American territories will take part, will be held at Las Vegas, Nev., November 10 through 13. The local delegation will join with similar groups from Wyoming, Lackawanna, Monroe and other neighboring counties.

The delegation at present comprises Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Oppelt, operators of the Windobona, Newfoundland summer resort and Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Brennan of Uswick Inn, Uswick.

The names of additional delegates will be announced at a meeting of the two-county group to be held at Greeley Casino in Lackawanna on Monday, Nov. 4. The program for this meeting will be highlighted by the nomination of officers for the December election and the preparation of an the licensees in Pike and Wayne counties. Joseph Oppelt, president, will preside.

Service To The Community:

One of our service clubs has a motto of "Service above self." A good public official should follow this.

I believe Judge Fred W. Davis practices this motto. He devotes heavily of his free time to his fellow man. Judge Davis' actions in his official duties are matched by his charitable work.

Judge Davis has ably and devotedly served as a director of the Salvation Army, County Director of Civil Defense, member of the Rotary Club, and many other clubs. His activity in his Church and Sunday School covers a continuous period of nearly thirty years.

Workers know of his generous contributions to many worthy causes. A man who serves his community with this devotion is truly the man we want for Judge. I sincerely urge you to re-elect Judge Davis.

(Signed) Clifford Gillam

Why do they do it?

...because they are responsible citizens

"They" are Skywatchers—volunteer members of the Ground Observer Corps. They are your neighbors—men and women, young and old—who for the past five years have helped keep your nation free from sneak enemy attack. These unselfish citizens have given a few hours each week to do this vital job, because they recognize our radar does not provide all the information required for Air Defense. More volunteers are needed, in many areas, to join this fine group of citizens. Find out today if you, too, can contribute to our nation's safety by becoming a Skywatcher.

A Skywatcher spots an unidentified plane and, in seconds, reports it to local filter center.

G.O.C. volunteers plot plane's position, report to radar. If not known as friendly, alert is sounded...

Instantly, Air Force pilots "scramble," roar into the skies to intercept the unidentified plane.

Anti-aircraft batteries swing into readiness. Our defenses are alert... because a Skywatcher called.
